The U.S. Copyright Office increased certain fees effective July 1, 1999. These included the fees for

- basic registration
- document recordation
- supplementary registration
- search services
- certificates, and
- additional certificates

Any request received in the U.S. Copyright Office on or after July 1, 1999, for a service whose fee increased on that date must be accompanied by the new fee. Please see the other side of this flyer for a list of Copyright Office fees.

Fees Increased

Effective July 1, 1999

The Technical Amendments

Act of 1997 authorized the

Register of Copyrights to increase fees, but required a study of the cost of providing services to the public. On the basis of the study and public policy considerations, and subject to congressional review, the registration, recordation, and related statutory fees could be raised to recover reasonable costs, including an adjustment for inflation. Before proposing the new fee schedule, the Register sought comment from authors, copyright owners, and the general public. While the resulting fee schedule increased fees, it did not provide full cost recovery for registration, recordation, and related services.

Or call the Copyright Public Information Office at (202) 707-3000, 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. eastern time, Monday through Friday, except federal holidays. The TTY number is (202) 707-6737.
